President To Give Program For Controls

To Address Nation Tonight; Some Curbs Already Imposed

By FELIX COTTEN
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—President Truman tonight will give the nation his plan for increased industrial production and government control over scarce materials to win the war in Korea.

The first step in the belt-tightening program came yesterday when the Federal Reserve Board followed up the president's signing of the Economic Controls Act by imposing anti-inflation curbs on installment spending. The restrictions are to be effective September 18.

Besides the check-rein on credit, the controls law also give the president rationing authority, power to freeze wages and prices, and other means of stopping inflation and mobilizing the home front for the war emergency.

To Bring War Home

Mr. Truman, in his radio and television message at 10:30 p.m. EST tonight, is expected to bring the war home to the man on the street by renewing his plea for swift passage of the five billion dollar Tax Increase Bill now stalled in Congress.

The new credit regulations cover automobiles involving loans of less than $5,000, ten kinds of household electrical appliances furniture and some improvement loans.

Buyers must put a third down on all new or used automobiles and pay the balance off in 24 months. On the appliances a down payment of 15 per cent is required, with 18 months allowed to settle the balance.

Payment Requirements

Furniture will require a 10 per cent initial payment, with 18 months of installments. On home repair loans, the requirement will be 10 per cent down and 30 months to pay.

Mr. Truman is certain to announce plans in his address for

Mrs. William Ayers of 1106 West Washington street reported to Pa News that when she returned to her home at 10:30 o'clock Friday evening she discovered someone had taken a plaster collar dog from her porch. She stated that if the person had asked for the dog she would have gladly given it to them rather than have them steal it.

During the football game last night, telephone lines to The News office were deluged with calls from residents of the city and county, asking for information of streaks of light which were reported as visible in the northwest sky. Just what caused the display has not been learned, but it may have been a portion of the Northern Lights. It has been suggested.

All sorts of things happened at last night's football game at Taggart stadium between New Castle and Carrick. During the game a young rabbit got out onto the north end of the playing field, but the kiddies in that section took care of the situation by chasing it away.

Mrs. Anna LeLenko, of 1108 Cunningham ave., reports that her night-blooming cereus cacti are blooming again tonight for the sixth straight year. The plant has 14 white blossoms each about 5 inches in diameter. Mrs. LeLenko welcomes any one interested in seeing this rare flower.

White House Denies Stevenson Being Considered For Post

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(INS)—The White House today emphatically denied that Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson is being considered as a replacement for Secretary of State Acheson and described as "a recurrent rumor" reports that Defense Secretary Johnson may resign.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross was asked about a published report that "Democratic circles" are considering Stevenson as a possible successor to Acheson. Ross replied: "There is not a word of truth in that."

Two Bandits Get $670 In Philadelphia Bar

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Two nattily dressed gunmen escaped with $670 from a mid-Philadelphia taproom today after forcing the owner, bartender and three patrons into a washroom. Mack Chilimidos, 48, proprietor of the "107" bar and grill told police the thugs waited until closing time before staging the robbery. Police theorized that the thieves are the same ones who pulled off similar holdups in recent weeks.

NEW CONNOCK, Scotland, Sept. 9.—Rescue of 118 Scottish coal miners trapped for almost 40 hours 700 feet beneath the surface by a cave-in appeared certain today but the fate of ten others remained in doubt.

Hundreds of relatives waited patiently at the pithead and were cheered over news that the majority seemed to be safe and were munching sandwiches and drinking tea while awaiting rescue.

Soap Rationing Ends In England

LONDON, Sept. 9.—(INS)—Soap rationing ends in Britain tonight—eight years and seven months after it began.

Housewives no longer will have to worry about getting along on a few bars of soap a month for the entire family.

Children undoubtedly will be disappointed. There will be no more "no soap" excuses for failure to wash carefully behind the ears. More frequent baths undoubtedly are on the agenda.

Export Controls Being Planned

Government To Place Controls On Critical Materials

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(INS)—The government drafted plans today to clamp export controls on critical materials as a means of spurring U. S. defense production and warding off runaway inflation.

The ceilings on U. S. shipments abroad are being prepared by the commerce department and are expected to be issued within a month. Authoritative sources predicted that iron, steel, copper and some non-ferrous metals will be the first items placed under export quotas.

Best indications are that the commerce department will reinstate the curbs on at least 13 critically short materials, including 11 items which federal agencies have been ordered to conserve.

These are:

Aluminum, cement, copper, lead, leather, lumber, paper, rubber, steel, wool and zinc.

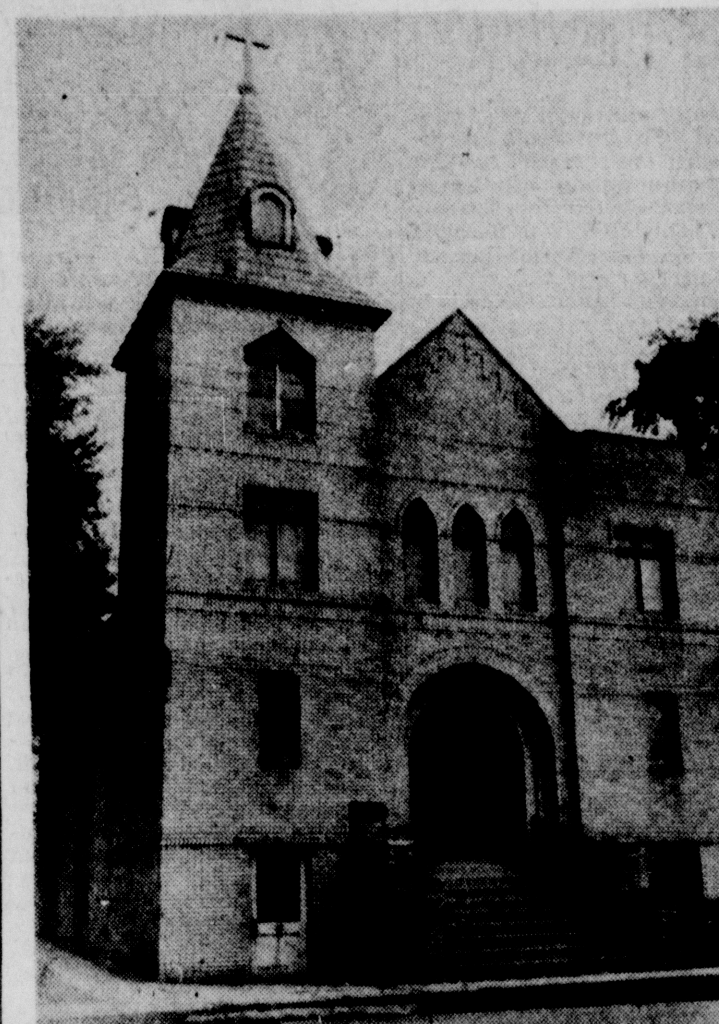

The government recently placed cotton and sugar under rigid export regulations and officials said these probably would be placed under export allocation.

Red Control Bill May Not Get Approval Of Truman

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Sponsors of the senate's communist control bill believe President Truman will either try to kill the measure with an outright veto or allow it to become law without his blessing.

Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.), a co-author of the drastic proposal to hamstring domestic Reds, said the president may have tipped his hand in announcing merely that he will not sign the bill.

Would Become Law

In that event, the measure would become law ten days after congress sent it to the White House. But Mundt sees as the president's alternative a "forthright" veto next week on the day before congress adjourns its session.

The senator declared: "We don't believe President Truman will use the pocket veto. He doesn't lack courage. If he vetoes it, we think he will do so forthrightly and send a message to congress the day after it passes."

The senate has agreed to begin voting on the bill and its amendments at 1 p. m. Tuesday. There are 22 proposed changes on file but it is expected that many of them will not be pushed.

See Hope For Labor Unity

President Presides Over CIO-AFL Dinner

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(INS)—The outlook for American labor unity brightened considerably today after a history-making CIO-AFL "love feast" presided over by President Truman.

The chief executive was guest of honor last night at a sumptuous dinner given jointly by the AFL and CIO and attended by the high command of both organizations.

It marked the first time since the split in the union movement in 1935 that the bigwigs of the rival camps had broken bread together in such a display of harmony.

Unity was the keynote and it received a helpful push from President Truman, his secretary of labor, Maurice J. Tobin, and Democratic National Chairman William Boyle.

Latest Drive Of Red Forces Is Hurlled Back

Sudden Allied Air Attack Sends Reds Reeling Back

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, U. N. S.)

TOKYO, Sept. 10.—(Sunday)

Gains up to six miles were hammered out by counter-attacking Allied troops Saturday night as they sealed a Red gap in Taegu's eastern defense and smashed a new enemy drive toward the Taegu-Pusan life-line supply route.

A Communist effort to break out upon the eastern plain sweeping down on the Allied Korean entry port of Pusan from the north was blocked.

But Red forces in the southern sector recaptured bloodstained Battle Mountain, 35 miles west of Pusan, a few hours after American troops had regained that vital height in a see-saw struggle. The peak has changed hands 13 times in two weeks.

Red Troops Flee

Just above this battle zone, a sudden Allied air attack through a break in foul weather sent Red troops fleeing back toward the Nakdong after they had pushed four and a half miles east of the river toward the Taegu-Pusan railroad.

At the northwest corner of the rectangular United Nations beachhead, other U. S. troops counter-attacked late Saturday after withdrawing to a new defense area seven miles above pivotal Taegu.

B-29 Superfortresses continued their smashing of North Korean war industries with a second raid on a 50-acre explosive plant on the outskirts of Haeju, a city of 100,000 about 70 miles south of the Red capital of Pyongyang.

The plant, estimated to have pro-

Red China To Reject Probe

Demands Invitation To Participate In Air Charges Probe

LONDON, Sept. 9.—(INS)—The Chinese communist government rejected today any United Nations investigation of charges that American planes violated China's air frontier unless Red China is allowed to take part in the probe.

The red-dominated New China news agency, quoting an unnamed "authoritative" source, said that the U. N. Security Council "must first consider inviting China to participate in a discussion of the complaint."

The proposal that a U. N. commission investigate the charges had been made by the United States, which suggested that India and Sweden be in charge of the investigation. Both nations have recognized the Peking regime.

The U. S. proposal followed a charge by the Chinese communists that American planes in the Korean theater of war had strafed several villages on the Manchurian side of the Yalu river boundary.

So we lost a game, well what do you know, it happens at times to the best, there comes a game when the team doesn't click and the players can't meet the test. And that's what happened, and who's to blame, well it was just one of those things, the rub of the grid or the run of the game, the luck that sport sometimes brings. And the sun still shines, and the stars still are bright, there's another game yet to play, so forget the loss and go on from there, it's seventy seven today.

Johnson Bronze Gets Award For Safety Record

Johnson Bronze company and employees were presented with an award Friday afternoon that represents an outstanding safety achievement.

The award, presented by Liberty Mutual Insurance companies, the local firm's agent, was for a minimum of 9.7 lost time accidents for a million man hours worked in 1949. This is 41 per cent below the average for this type of industry. It is based on 25 accidents for 2-672,391 man hours.

Lewis P. Howard, servicing engineer for the insurance firm, made the certificate presentation to Harry Stenger, plant manager. Supervisors, union stewards and members of the plant safety committee, comprised of both union and company personnel, attended the award meeting in the company's recreation auditorium.

The record of lost time accidents is not only an outstanding one for the industry, but represents an improvement over past years at Johnson Bronze. In 1948 there were 58 lost-time accidents, or 19 for every million man hours worked.

Netherlands Ready To Furnish Troops

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Sept. 9 (INS)—The Netherlands informed the United Nations Friday that it is ready to send "at least two, and possibly three" fully equipped infantry companies for use by U.N. forces in Korea.

The Dutch offer was in supplement to naval assistance already given the United Nations in patrolling Korean waters. In a communication from the Hague, the Dutch government said the infantry units will be ready to leave for the Korean front "in the very near future." The message added that "transportation of the units to Korea will be undertaken by the Netherlands."

The offer was made in reply to Secretary-General Trygve Lie's appeal in July, urging stepped-up aid to U.N. forces in Korea.

Central Church Members Will Meet Tuesday

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the board of trustees, a call has been issued for a special meeting of the congregation of Central Presbyterian church for Tuesday evening, September 12, at 8 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church, North Jefferson street.

The purpose of the meeting is to complete plans for financing the new church structure now being erected on a five-acre plot just north of the city on route 18 in Neshannock township.

The former building, located on the public square for almost 100 years, was completely destroyed by fire on Sunday morning, March 20, 1949. Since that time the congregation has been conducting services in the Scottish Rite Cathedral, East Lincoln avenue.

It is expected that the new edifice, of modified colonial design being built of red brick with white stone trim, will be ready for occupancy early next summer.

LATEST DRIVE OF RED FORCES IS HURLED BACK

duced 100,000 tons of explosives a year, was first struck by B-29's last Tuesday.

Close Five Mile Gap
Some 20 miles east of Taegu, South Korean troops completely closed a five-mile gap in the defense line above the strategic highway running 18 miles southeast from Youngchon to Kyongju.

This feat, achieved Saturday night, sharply reduced the enemy's chances of bursting through Kyongju onto a coastal valley that spreads 50 miles southward to the indispensable port of Pusan, the Red's primary target.

The advance in the eastern sector sealed up a wide hole the North Korean invaders had torn between two South Korean divisions—the Eighth and the Capital.

The South Koreans, supported by American tanks and artillery, cut off hundreds of Communist infiltrators as they smashed six miles north from Yongchon and also moved northeast of that junction city.

Three Red groups were cut off and trapped within a 10,000-square-yard area. At least 300 Reds were in one group. The numbers in the two other enemy units were not known.

Still Hold Roadblock
Communist infiltrators however still held a roadblock just south-east of Yongchon where an additional two enemy tanks were reported to have arrived as reinforcements to keep the Yongchon-Kyongju highway impassable.

American forces were resisting renewed pressure from a Red bridgehead across the Nakdong river, pointed toward the 55-mile lifeline rail-highway route running northwest from Pusan to Taegu.

Late Saturday a dramatic air strike, delivered through a hole in a misty overcast, broke the enemy's drive against the U. S. Second Division four and a half miles east of the Nakdong.

A front dispatch received at 10 o'clock Saturday night (8 a. m. EDT) said the Red troops were so startled by the unexpected air attack that they fled from their foxholes into a gully where American artillery fire killed at least 100 of them.

All the rain-drenched sectors of the 120-mile front were ablaze with action as cloudy weather limited Allied air support for the second straight day.

Units of the 140,000-man North Korean invasion army slogged through oozing mud in efforts to tear new holes in the Allied lines and collapsed the United Nations Korean beachhead. But the Allied forces were holding their ground generally and at some points scoring counter-advances.

FLORENCE SCILLA WEDS LOUIS TROTT

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Trott are honeymooning in the Pocono mountains following the marriage in St. Joseph's church Saturday, Sept. 2.

The bride is the former Miss Florence Scilla, daughter of Mrs. Rose Scilla of 846 Dewey avenue, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rocco Trott of 908 Dewey avenue.

Wedding vows were exchanged by the couple at nine a. m. with Rev. Fr. Cornelius Becker officiating at the double ring service. Ferns and gladioli decorated the church altar for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her brother, Cosmo Scilla, the bride was charming in her ivory satin gown, fashioned with fitted bodice. The sheer yoke was outlined with satin appliques and long fitted sleeves and tiny satin buttons were additional features of the creation. The full skirt, of redingote style, terminated in a cathedral train. She wore a fingertip veil of hand-rolled illusion, which fell from a tiara of seed pearls. Her bridal bouquet consisted of lily of the valley centered with two orchids and white streamers.

Miss Margaret Magno, as maid of honor, wore a gown of deep aqua moire taffeta of the colonial style. The low neckline was enhanced with a bertha collar. The full skirt cascaded over a hoop. To complete the ensemble she wore pink mits and a matching headress of pink roses. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and streamers.

Louis Polish of Youngstown, O., served his cousin as best man.

Miss Clare Duff played appropriate nuptial selections at the organ.

A breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. Sixty guests attended the dinner held in the C. I. O. hall on Jefferson street.

Mr. and Mrs. Trott later departed for a wedding trip, and upon their return will reside in their newly furnished apartment at 908 Dewey avenue.

The couple was graduated from the local high school. Mrs. Trott is employed in the gold room of the Shenango pottery, while Mr. Trott is employed by the Republic Steel in Youngstown.

IMPROVED TANKS

Latest thing in military equipment so far as tanks are concerned has gone into action against the Communists in Korea. Named in honor of the late General Patton, the weapon is described as the answer to Russian-made T134 tanks used by the Communists.

This new weapon is held to be an improvement over the Pershing tank, and to be more deadly than the famous German 88 which caused so much havoc in the last war. It moves faster, has thicker armor, and carries a 90-millimeter gun that walks on wider tread and is more maneuverable. It throws shells three times faster than sound, hitting before they are heard. It has a powerful, souped-up motor, and all in all is a most deadly weapon.

How many are on the scene in Korea has not been announced. But it is known this and other modern weapons are being made available for American forces.

FOOTBALL IN POLITICS

Oklahoma can always be depended upon to put a new twist to politics. The Democratic state organization came up with a scheme to give football a prominent part in the fall campaign. It planned to broadcast all Oklahoma University games in the name of the party.

As sponsors, it is presumed a few kind words would be said in behalf of the party's candidates for state and congressional offices.

Announcement of the plan, which was advertised by billboards erected throughout the state, brought vigorous protests from the Republicans. They charged political favoritism on the part of university regents, and claimed football was to be prostituted in behalf of politics.

The Democratic party had an answer for these charges. Why not keep communism out of the broadcasts? Why should beer and cigarettes be given the opportunity to advertise when a nice, clean political party was willing to do the job? They were even willing to let the Republicans get in on the plan, permitting them to broadcast games played after election day, in which the Democrats would have no further interest.

But nothing will come of it. University regents will refuse to permit political sponsorship of the games. How the innovation would have been received by the voters remains unanswered. Since the party in power is presumed to give the people everything they want, the populace might have regarded the scheme with favor.

TITO EDGES WESTWARD

Announcement by the Yugoslav government that it considers the North Koreans guilty of aggression and of endangering world peace will be taken in most quarters to mean that Marshal Tito, the Yugoslav dictator, is edging steadily toward firmer relations with the west.

That is the way Soviet Russia, particularly, will be inclined to regard this new development in Yugoslav policy, for with the Russians, it is an axiom that those who aren't wholeheartedly for the Kremlin in all matters are against it.

But Tito is still far from a dependable ally of the west warns the Philadelphia Inquirer. His delegate to the United Nations Security Council has abstained from voting on some occasions, and has sided with the Russians on others, notably the proposal for hearing North Koreans, as well as South Koreans, on the issue of aggression.

Tito is not yet ready to join in the efforts of the U. N. to push back the Korean aggressors. He is still trying to steer a tricky course, hoping to avoid both an attack by Russia and entanglement with the west. He may yet discover that the best way of keeping his country safe from the Russians is by forthright opposition to the threatening forces of aggression which have their origin in the Soviet Union.

FOOTBALL THEN AND NOW

"There were giants in those days." This must have been the utterance of a Yale man, reading of the death of Frank Butterworth. Butterworth was a star back in the nineties, on teams that included such fabulous players as Hinkley and Hefelfinger. His ability to hurdle made him almost impossible to stop short of a first down.

Those were the days when Yale led the football teams of the nation. This was largely due to the genius of her coach, Walter Camp, whom she had the good sense to keep in control year after year. Twice in the thirty years after Camp's graduation a bumptious captain relegated Camp to the background, and both times Yale lost the final match to Harvard. Eventually other colleges learned some of the secrets of Camp's "know-how," and for many years the list of top-notch football teams has not included Yale.

The game was rougher in those days. Butterworth himself was knocked out in his final game, being one of five players to be incapacitated. Then no player could be returned to the game if once taken out; a star therefore got no chance to rest, and became more liable to injury. This dangerous rule has fortunately long since been changed.

College football no longer holds the undivided attention of fall sports lovers. As far as performance goes, the professionals put on the better game, as they do in baseball. Nothing, however, has weakened the enthusiasm of the alumni.

Record crop of Thanksgiving turkeys is forecast. So, it isn't too early to start being thankful, right now.

An oil well has been struck on Michigan land belonging to a Boy Scout council. Looks like Nature, too, is determined to do her good deed.

Closer Relations For France-Spain

Closer relations between France and Spain seemed a likely possibility today in the wake of sweeping anti-communist raids which saw more than 200 fifth column suspects, most of them Spanish, arrested throughout the country.

The bulk of information concerning their activities came from official Spanish sources. Generalissimo Francisco Franco has a widespread network of operatives to make sure that a close watch is kept on persons who might seek to overthrow his own Nationalist regime.

France, in her determination to wipe out any communist menace on her own soil, cannot help but be grateful for underground information from carefully established cells are about the most difficult thing in the world to locate and eliminate.

Needless to say, Franco is acting against communist leadership for her own sake and not to please France. By the same token, Franco is serving his own ends by making certain that as many conspirators as possible are clapped into jail. But while each country is serving its own unilateral interests, there is an inescapable community of opinion in this case and future events may well witness a considerable increase in the scope of this collaboration.

France, like all the other great powers, suspended normal diplomatic relations with Spain under terms of a United Nations resolution. But the Pyrenees border between the two countries, long closed to travel and to commerce, was opened some time ago to the mutual benefit of both nations and there never has been any severance of trade negotiations. Both southern France and northern Spain suffered severely in local frontier regions during the long period the border was sealed off and are many persons in both countries who have urged greater cooperation.

Political observers have felt since the east-west crisis developed that some satisfactory means

Problem The Parent

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

THE CHILD WHO LIES, STEALS

Although a few parents seem not to care whether or not their children lie and steal, most parents are very eager to have their children truthful and honest. Indeed, some of the most conscientious parents try so hard to train their children in truth and honesty that they unwittingly make liars and thieves of them. Lying and theft are basically the same. Usually the youngster begins by taking things not his own and, on being questioned about them, lies to escape punishment.

He begins to take things not his own because he wants them and has not yet learned to respect the ownership of other persons. Later he begins to specialize. He inclines less to take things belonging to a person who makes him feel he is loved than things belonging to a person who doesn't give him such emotional security. Accordingly, a youngster, say from six to twelve, may steal from one parent rather than the other.

How Deceit Is Taught
 A lot may take something when the parent is not watching. Later the parent, suspecting this, will question him. At first the youngster will tell what he did, and be punished. After several such experiences the youngster will begin to lie in order to escape unpleasant consequences. He tends to connect the punishment not with the deed for which the parent supposes he is being punished, but with not having lied cleverly enough. Thereafter he tries to lie more skillfully. As the child has the vantage ground, he may succeed in telling a few lies which work. The more often he steals and, in consequence, the more often he is put on trial, the more practice he has in deceit.

Meanwhile he feels less secure with his parents and less loved by them, since they and their friends have come to class him as a thief and liar. They have grown more emotional in their treatment of each succeeding offense, as is clearly shown in the following statement by the mother of a boy, six years old, reported as doing well at school:

Case History
 "Ever since he was a very small child he has told lies. They are not fanciful tales, just plain untruth. He is so convincing that it is often hard to detect when he is telling the truth. In connection with this, he has always taken things that don't belong to him, i. e., candy from a store, a toy from another house, money from school—just any little thing that's around loose that he wants. When this first occurred, I tried to make him take them back and we would have a very hysterical scene with me practically dragging him all the way—but this did not help a bit. "Bob and I have talked this over many times and he knows that it is wrong to do it but he'll go back and do it again."

I might add that when we lived in the city, he received a regular allowance which he would give away to the larger children. In the country, there is no place to spend the allowance, so it is saved. His father runs a grocery store so he always has plenty of goodies around."

In writing this mother, I urged that she stop holding trials and being hysterical. Instead, she should guard the boy against temptations too hard for him to withstand, have more good times with him, attract playmates to the house, find ways of proving to him he is really loved and worthy. He needs a lot of his father's love and companionship. Punishment for his stealing will never work.

must be found of restoring Spain to a normal place in the family of nations.

Much stress has been placed upon the country as an important bulwark against communist expansion. Great Britain's Gibraltar stands on what once was Spanish soil and friendly Portugal is part of the same Iberian peninsula.

One interesting fact behind the raids is that for months before they began, the French interior ministry received almost daily reports from Spanish government sources on communist activities.

According to this information, there is an underground army of 15 to 20 thousand exiled communists in France. The rank and file can sink into anonymity in time of crisis. But the leaders, especially those who fled from Spain, are known by name, reputation and appearance and the French security police apparently have been able to put their hands on them.

It is significant that while many arrests were made in the region of the Pyrenees, large numbers of prisoners were scooped up in military important towns and cities.

According to the Spanish information, the leaders have drafted a plan of action under which the huge underground army could spring to life at a moment's notice carrying out desperate acts of sabotage and inciting the population to revolt.

Enormous Damage
 Past history has shown that enormous damage can be done by underground forces in the first few hours or days of a crisis, just as such groups can be a decisive factor during a period of military occupation.

The French government knows full well that in the present state of the world, it can expect only praise from western sources for decisive anti-communist action even though this was made possible only by the aid of a power that stands at the moment outside the democratic orbit.

There is no indication of any sudden move on the part of France to make any real approach to Franco. She more than any other nation in Europe desires to consolidate and preserve western solidarity and any step that might evoke United Nations displeasure would be unthinkable.

But it is obvious that millions of Frenchmen who feel themselves menaced by communism must look with slightly more favor toward Madrid for supplying a valuable weapon in their behalf.

Folks Of Fame

Kaiser Wilhelm was the ninth king of Prussia and the third German emperor. He was born in Berlin in 1859, the son of Crown Prince Frederick and Victoria, princess royal of England. He succeeded his father in 1888, and his autocratic attitude led to resignation of Prince Bismarck in 1890. He had a sense of "divine right" of power, was energetic, capricious, strong-willed. World War I brought his downfall by abdication in 1918. He died in 1941.

John C. Garand began to repair machines had machine parts at age 12, and in World War II his name became nationally famous for an automatic rifle he invented which is now standard U. S. Army equipment. He was born in Canada in 1888, and has received many medals and honors for his work, including the National Association of Manufacturers' Modern Pioneer in Frontier of American Industry award. He has specialized in small arms ordnance since 1918.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

Yesterday we told about the Community Chest and the campaign that will be held in October . . . that campaign will help solve the welfare problems of this town . . . today we would like to tell you about the GNCA and its expansion program that will help the community to progress.

Only a few people who actually were on the inside . . . who made the trips to Washington and other places at their own expense . . . can tell you about the long hours of waiting to see government officials . . . or about talking long hours to prospective plant managers and telling them and all those who would listen about the advantages of opening a plant here in New Castle . . . No, all we people know is that since the steel mills shut down . . . and the town was flat on its back . . . that an organization was established and through that group . . . numbering today near the 850 mark . . . things happened. Payrolls were brought to town . . . things were made easier for the merchant because things were made easier for the worker. Everyone benefitted . . . and today we have 80 manufacturing plants in this community. Fairly well established is our economy . . . this work of getting new industry and helping already established industry to expand will continue . . . but there is something else for the GNCA members to do . . . improve the community itself.

The expansion program that starts on September 21 is for that purpose mainly . . . to increase the membership to 1500 . . . To let more people get into the act . . . for we need new streets, new ways of helping the city solve the traffic problems . . . new ideas to help the school board in their thinking on new and better schools. Public parks . . . swimming pools . . . oh there are many, many things that the GNCA can do now . . . But as in all cases it takes man power . . . the majority of the community must be interested in telling the world about New Castle . . . everyone living here can be a New Castle salesman . . . and when we are all selling we naturally will sell each other on the ideas that will make this community more beautiful . . . easier to drive in and through . . . easier to park. Each individual really should have a membership in the GNCA . . . we know that is impossible . . . but there shouldn't be a lawyer, doctor, business man, industrialist or labor union without a membership.

Shows Genius For Mistiming

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—If President Truman had tried to find the worst possible time to make his unfortunate remarks about the Marine Corps, he could not have succeeded more admirably. At any time it would have been bad. Under the circumstances it showed a positive genius for mistiming.

On August 12 General Clifton B. Cates, commandant of the Marine Corps, announced that additional Marines were on their way to Korea. Anyone able to add 2 and 2 could determine that these Marine Corps units would be arriving in Korea at a fortunate time.

The American position is again serious if not critical. Thrown into the line at once, the Marines could save the day as they have so often done in our past history.

The President's offhand remarks in his note to an inquiring Congressman show so little comprehension of one of the basic problems growing out of unification. That was to preserve and cherish the best traditions of the separate services while carrying out a merger essential for both efficiency and economy.

Impellitteri says "If I don't get the nomination I'll run as an independent." This fellow is more ambitious than most. . . . He wants to be like FDR Jr.

Meanwhile the fellow who bought up the old Dewey buttons is packing his sample case again.

Oh! Those Men In France!

By PAUL GALLICO

PARIS, Sept. 9.—Well, sirs and sisters, goodbye to my chances of ever wearing that little red rosette or ribbon of the Legion of Honor bestowed by the French Republic here and there upon those who have aided La Belle France, but you know how it is with a writing man. Once he gets an idea he's just got to lay hold of it and shake the darned thing to death on paper, and pay the penalty.

And the thing that has been nipping me ever since I have been holed up in this gay and beautiful city in the line of duty is, how come that while the French babes in the aggregate sum up to a collection of the tastiest female dishes this side of Paradise, the guys who square them around add up to the darnedest collection of pasty-faced, paunchy, top-eared, pop-eyed, snaggle-toothed perambulating zombies that I have ever laid eyes upon in some fifty or more odd years.

Has That Certain Something

The French woman has got that certain something from the age eight to eighty. Even the ugly ones are good looking. But the men? Holy cats! What happened to 'em?

It is axiomatic in practically any country that when you see a queen with starchy curls, sweeping eyelashes, pearly teeth, milk white skin, swan-like neck, ruby lips, hair of gold, etc., etc., the gent who will have one hand firmly clasped to her elbow guiding her across the street is not going to be no Adonis, but usually an elderly party with a blotchy hide, frog eyes and bags under same.

But, by and large, I have never seen a town where there are so many handsome dolls and equally as many repulsive Joes as this here now Paris. And I am not talking now about folks with "scratches" to dress up pretty, but just run-of-the-mine folks that you encounter on street corners, or riding on busses or bicycles, engaged in conducting the business of every-day living.

Plain And Lumpy-Looking Lot

Occasionally one will encounter some big-eyed, curly-haired lad who might be calculated to set a few feminine hearts a-flutter in Dallas, Texas; Phoenix, Arizona, or Bangor, Me., but for the most part, to a population like ours reared on the models provided by Clark Gable, Gary Cooper, Cary Grant, Spencer Tracy and Ezio Pinza, the Frenchmen are a pretty plain and lumpy-looking lot with uneven eyes, sallow skin, and pigeon chests. Maybe they've got that famous know-how, but you wouldn't think so from taking a gander at them staggering down the boulevard.

Of course, standards differ. We like those big loogans with Dick Tracy jaws, heifer eyes and fullback's shoulders. The French run to a slender type with no shoulders at all, the chest expansion of an angelform, beaked nose, thinning hair and an appealing and eloquent Adam's apple. At least that's the type you see running off with the tip in the final clinch in the movies.

You can't walk a block in this town without seeing a half-dozen eye-teasers with self-cushioned chassis, babes who would have made old Ziegfeld wish he hadn't left quite so soon, but the chumps they are paired with are really something that ought to be kept under a canvas cover.

Have Something Special?

One says to oneself, "Maybe these walking totem-poles have something special, that Je-ne-sais-quoi which makes them particularly attractive to these lovely French mice." But then one looks around and keeps looking and comes to the conclusion that that's all there is, there isn't any more. And the old ones look a lot better than the young ones, because at least they have gett and their clothes weren't cut by Oh-my, the Sackmaker.

Well, but then you get into a peck of right confusing genetics because you say look at all those bewitching lalapaaloes anking all over the town, eventually they will get married and a bunch of peach-erinos like that ought to have the most beautiful kids in the world who in turn will grow up into handsome and striking Romans.

Well, they do have beautiful children and striking Romans, as lovely as their mamas, but about the time the male's voice changes and he starts to shed his short pants something happens to him and from then on he ain't much to look at any more.

As for the elderly French sports one sees around town with the real nifty numbers in the fashionable places, one says to oneself, "Gee and gosh, but money must be a wonderful thing and a substitute for practically anything."

I guess that takes care of this subject.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A short time ago, while on my vacation, I wrote about a "Cuban Jacket" I had seen on a man in Warrensburg, N. Y.

I told my readers the story—how I had noticed him in a little lunch room, how I had admired his jacket, how he had promised to have the manufacturer in Miami send me two when he got back home. Then I found one just like it in Portland, Me.

I had been looking all over for one of those jackets, and did not want to take a chance on the man from Miami not keeping his promise.

In a rash moment I said in my column that, if he did keep his promise, I would have three of those jackets, and that would be one more than I could use.

So I would send one of them to the first reader who asked for it.

Then came the deluge. First, let me tell you, that my friend from Miami whose card I lost must have lost mine, too. I never heard from him again, nor from the manufacturer.

This, in spite of the fact that one of the fellows who asked for the jacket, a member of the Florida House of Representatives, wrote this:

"Since you will have more jackets than you can use when the other two arrive—AND THEY WILL, because Floridians are truthful, I therefore ask you to mail me one of them size 40."

Within two days after publication of my column, the requests began to arrive.

Up to now I must have received close to a thousand and still they are coming.

Many of them are from men, although usually a great majority of my fan mail comes from women. Ten or 12 letters are from people who had previously called me all sorts of names for my stand on religion, on marriage, on love, on almost everything on which they disagreed with me.

Suddenly these very same people praised me sky-high and told me what a wonderful column I wrote—before coming to the point and asking for the jacket.

But with the exception of these few I wish I could send a jacket to every one of my readers who asked for it.

For instance there is the nurse who wanted it for one of her patients. There is the high school boy who needed one to go fishing and whose parents cannot afford one. There is the old man who has not been able to buy a new suit for more than 20 years.

Usually I don't care for a lot of money. I have never wanted to be a millionaire.

But for this once I would like to be one—and I would have to be—so I would send one of them to the first reader who asked for it.

So, forgive me please, if I have disappointed you.

TORRID FURNITURE—The car blocks, girders, posts, and slabs that support pottery on its trip through 2,400° Fahrenheit kilns are known as kiln "furniture," made by the New Castle Refractories company.

(This is the eighth in a series of articles on New Castle industries. The series results from a survey recently conducted by Ketchum and Company sponsored by the Greater New Castle Association.)

NEW CASTLE REFRACTORIES FASHIONS "FURNITURE" FOR FIERY FURNACES

Special kiln "furniture," cooked in heat one-third the temperature of the sun, and heat-resistant bricks, built to "take it" as lining for the furnaces of steel mills, are the products of the New Castle Refractories company.

Manufacturers of pottery and sanitary ware, who must process their products through blazing hot kilns, need kiln "furniture" that can stand up under terrific temperatures.

Steel producers, who melt ore and alloy together in fiery furnaces and treat ingots with intense heat, must have heat-resistant linings for their furnaces and soaking pits.

New Castle Refractories makes these specialized heat-resistant bricks in many shapes and sizes for the ceramic and steel industries. The "refractories" part of the company name, in fact, is a word that means "objects hard to fuse or resistant to heat."

Now Has Seven Plants

Since the company was established here in 1919, it has grown until it now has seven plants making refractory bricks. Company officials, loyal to their city, have kept the home offices, and research laboratory here in New Castle.

Roger W. Rowland, president of the company, is one of New Castle's most ardent boosters. With all his business responsibilities, he finds time to serve his community. He is president and director of the Jameson Memorial hospital and a director of the New Castle hospital. He has used his executive talents in directing many a civic enterprise.

New Castle Refractories employs 175 district people in the local plant. These New Castle people draw a total annual pay of $600,000.

Industries, such as New Castle Refractories, mean much to the life of this area. They provide employment opportunities for our citizens. They bring money into the community. Men of industry take an active part in civic projects.

New Castle Refractories officials have been generous in giving their time and efforts for community causes. In addition to Mr. Rowland, officials who have contributed much in civic leadership are J. W. Miller, vice-president and George Wilson, production manager.

*Editor's Note—Some idea of how much an industry of this size means to New Castle can be gained from the results of a survey conducted recently by Northwestern University. The study was made to determine the effects a new industry employing 150 people had upon the community where it located. The Northwestern researchers found that this industry supported 1,000 people, created 12 new stores, and required the services of 12 new professional men.

Legion Band Plays At Game

Something was added to the New Castle-Carrick football game at Taggart Stadium Friday night.

The usual appearance of the red and black uniformed New Castle high band was missing and instead the state championship American Legion band played the game.

Willard Keene, recently elected director of the high school instrumental music for New Castle high school has had insufficient practice to field a band properly trained and the Legion band was asked to pinch hit for the first two games. This music was snappy and well balanced, the marching was well high perfect and the fans got a thumb nail picture of what the band did in Philadelphia. Joseph Martin directed.

The Carrick band paraded the field at half time with a cute bunch of majorettes heading them.

WITH NEW CASTLE AFRO-AMERICANS

A special service will be conducted at 3 p.m. Sunday at St. John United Holy church, when a song and praise service will be conducted along with the serving of communion. Visitors from Portersville, Rose Point, Ellwood City, and Princeton are expected. Selections by the Sky Pilots will be sung.

The Monday prayer band will meet at 2 p.m. in the home of Mrs. William Scott, 224 Mahoning avenue.

Native Of Sudan At Second U.P.

Evening services will be held in the Second U. P. church Sunday with Maffai Gereis of Sudan, Africa, as the guest speaker of the evening. Mr. Gereis has spent the last year attending the University of London in England and during the summer months has been touring the United States under the auspices of the Board of Foreign Missions of the United Presbyterian church. He was reared in a United Presbyterian school and was graduated from Assuit college in Egypt. Though yet a young man he has been serving the Sudanese government in the department of education.

Upon his return to the Sudan he will supervise the junior secondary school in the South Sudan. This is comparable to our high schools in the United States. Mr. Gereis is the first national to have such an important position in the government of the South Sudan. During the summer many United Presbyterian youth had the privilege of hearing Mr. Gereis at the church camps and conferences. Mr. Gereis is accompanied by his wife and 18-month-old daughter. They will return to the Sudan, leaving the United States October 27. Mr. Gereis will speak on the needs of the people of the Sudan and of the work that is being carried on in order to build a strong Christian church in the heart of Africa.

Steelworkers To Picnic At Conneaut Lake Sunday

A crowd of more than 50,000 persons is expected to gather at Conneaut Lake park Sunday for the third annual picnic sponsored by District No. 21, United Steelworkers of America. The picnic committee has arranged an elaborate program for the entertainment of young and old alike beginning at 8:30 a. m. until midnight.

To determine who are kings of the fairways among steelworkers in this District, a golf tournament is scheduled for the morning at Conneaut Lake Park's beautiful golf course. Three flights are scheduled, and only U. S. A. members are eligible to participate. One hundred eight (108) persons are registered for the tournament. Trophies and prizes will be awarded to the winners of each flight.

Arrange Program

Also scheduled in the morning will be a softball game between Local Union 1220 (National Tube Company, Ellwood City, Pa.), and Local Union 1426 (Zurn Manufacturing Company, Erie, Pa.). These two teams are the finalists in a series of games between District teams to determine who shall play in the finals on Picnic Day. Only teams sponsored solely by local unions were eligible to participate in the contests.

From 10:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m., all rides in the Park will be free of charge. After 1:30, reduced prices on all rides will be in effect. Several hundred prizes will be awarded to the children, and tickets for the drawing of these prizes will be distributed at all entrances to the Park. In addition, four lucky children will be the proud winners of bicycles. Packages of caramels and ice cream cups will also be distributed to the children, and coffee will be served to all picnickers free of charge.

Emceeding the entire program from the bandstand throughout the day will be Benny Jones, popular entertainer and emcee from Sharon. Three acts of vaudeville will also be presented throughout the day and evening.

To Display Products

Products ranging from delicate ly fine china to oil field equipment; from hand tools to a miniature open-hearth furnace will be displayed at the Industrial Exhibit to be set up in the old Dreamland Ballroom in the center of the Park midway. Approximately 40 companies under contract with United Steelworkers in District 21 are preparing to exhibit their products. This Exhibit will be open all day Sunday and will be free of charge.

The companies from this area who will display their products are: National Radio & T. Co., Standard Steel Spring, Shenango Pottery, American Can Company, Bossert New Castle Division, Shaw Perkins Company, Bessemer Limestone and Cement, Metropolitan Brick, National Tube Company and American Steel Company.

Speaking Program

Headlining the speaking program in the late afternoon will be Honorable Francis J. Myers, senior United States Senator from Pennsylvania. Senator Myers has been the Majority Whip of the 81st Congress, and his message will be of important interest to everyone.

Climaxing the day's activities will be a dance held in the ballroom of Hotel Conneaut from 8:30 p. m. to midnight.

District No. 21, United Steelworkers of America, is comprised of eight counties in northwestern Pennsylvania with an approximate membership of 25,000. The District Picnics in 1948 and 1949, according to Park management estimates, attracted more than 45,000 persons each year. This year's affair is expected to attract an even larger crowd.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERP

Thirty-eight years ago Philosopher George Santayana came into a sizeable legacy and was able to relinquish his post on the Harvard faculty. The classroom was packed for his final appearance, and Santayana did himself proud. As Cleveland Armory tells it, he was about to conclude his remarks when he caught sight of a forsythia uncurling in a patch of muddy snow outside the window.

He stopped abruptly, picked up his hat, gloves and walking stick, and made for the door. There he turned. "Gentlemen," he said softly, "I shall not be able to finish that sentence. I have just discovered that I have an appointment with April."

The usually imperturbable Ray Foote really was speechless when a Billie Burk-ish matron fluttered up to his desk at the Bankers' Trust and confided, "Goodness, Mr. Foote, the way I've been drawing checks on this bank all around town, I really think I ought to open an account."

County Fire School To Open

Sessions Will Be Held All Next Week

Lawrence county's volunteer firemen will attend school all next week, when sessions will be held each night, in Neshannock township. The school has been arranged under the auspices of the Lawrence County Firemen's Association. Sessions start at 7 o'clock.

The opening session will take place in Neshannock Township Fire hall, when a program of talks on accepted fire fighting practices will be given by outstanding speakers.

Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings, the programs will take place at the lake on the Old Plank Road, between Highland avenue and the Walmo crossroads. Tuesday evening, pumping practice will be held, taking water from the lake at that point. Wednesday evening will consist of practice in the use of ladders, and Thursday, ventilating problems will be discussed by Charles Porter, fire marshal of Beaver county.

On Friday evening, first aid will be studied at the Neshannock Township Fire hall.

The school is expected to prove most beneficial to the younger firemen in the recently organized volunteer companies in the county and will likely be made an annual event, so that these men can keep up to date on the latest fire fighting practices.

Spence, already holder of the Distinguished Flying Cross, was decorated only three weeks ago with the Legion of Merit by Lieut. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, commander of U. S. Far Eastern Air Forces.

New Taxation Is Opposed

Republican State Committee Maps Campaign Stand

By JOHN PAGET
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 9.—A determined stand against any new taxation plus acceleration of social and economic improvements today highlight the 18-point platform enthusiastically endorsed by the Republican state committee.

The 3,500-word document was turned over to the committee by Platform Chairman Fred Peters of Montgomery county who worked past midnight to whip it into shape.

Broadly, the platform condemned communism, suggested legislation forcing registration of Reds and death for saboteurs and called for continuation of the GOP public improvement program spurred during the Duff administration.

Gives Approval

Shortly before the platform was adopted, gubernatorial hopeful John S. Fine labeled it a "haven for labor and a shelter for industry."

He also ripped into his Democratic opponent, Richardson Dilworth, and called him "unprincipled and incapable."

He assailed President Truman's administration, said "incompetence" had paved the way for dispatch of American soldiers to Korea and said cooperation among all Republicans will result in defeat for Democratic statewide candidates in the general election November 7.

Gov. James H. Duff, candidate for the U. S. Senate, personally went down in the platform after conferring with the gubernatorial running mate, former Superior Court Judge John S. Fine. Duff drafted the national affairs plank.

NEW CASTLE'S OLDEST CLEANERS

NO LONGER, NO HEAVIER, JUST MODERNIZE THEM

There was a time when railroad trains had no air brakes, when rails were light, when cars were wooden. Those were the days of light loads, slow speeds and more or less inconvenience. Today is a different story.

There also was a time when motor trucks were engineered differently than they are now, when tires were solid and highways were light. Today it is different. Highways are wider and heavier, trucks are engineered modernly, but the same old laws cover the modern motor trucks that covered those solid tired jobs, for the most part.

The truck industry today is asking for no longer trucks, no heavier trucks, just the right to use modern, safe, efficient tandem axle trucks and to carry the load which the present law seems to permit but actually does not.

Carrick Defeats New Castle 14-7 In 1950 Football Opener

Senators Battle Butler Tonight With Series All Even

Tigers Win, 10 To 5, Friday Night; Frank Wagner Will Pitch Tonight

New Castle baseball fans will be treated to a last ditch fight, at Flaherty Memorial Field tonight, at 8 o'clock, as the fiery young Senators strive to defeat the Butler Tigers, and gain the championship playoff right to battle the Oil City Refiners.

The Butler Tigers had one big inning the seventh last night, scoring six runs, and derring young George Becka, as they won 10 to 5 over the Senators to even up the current playoff series at two games each. Paul Foytack was again the winning pitcher, making two series wins for the youth.

Wagner Takes Mound Tonight

Whether or not New Castle takes the heated series depends on the strong right arm of the veteran Frank Wagner, who lost to the Tigers in a heart-breaking 4-3 game at Butler to open the series.

Manager Marv Olson of Butler is undecided on his starting hurler, and will choose between Neil Reeves and Larry Tessier, the latter losing to New Castle's Ben Rossman in the second game of the series at Butler 12-3.

Any way you take it, the game here tonight will have the aspects of a real cat and dog fight, between two heated rivals.

Patched Up Lineup

Whether or not the Senators star rookie first sacker Johnny Vizzini can get back in the lineup tonight is not known at the moment. Vizzini suffered a foot injury at the plate in the Thursday game. He was not in uniform last night, his absence being keenly felt.

Dick Ackerman, the superb utility man, filled in at first last night and Joe Smolko was sent to right field. If Vizzini is not in the lineup tonight, Rossman will play right, and Smolko will be kept for pitching duty if needed.

Expect Large Crowd Tonight

In the event of nice weather tonight there will be countless hundreds of fans want to see this series final battle. The regular season prices prevail at the series games. Last night there were about 500 fans at the game.

Providing the Senators win tonight they will start the Oil City series on Sunday at Oil City, the best out of seven series. The game at Oil City will start at 2 o'clock with either New Castle or Butler opposing the Oilers.

There will be a big fireworks display on the Crofton Hill following the ball game tonight, it was announced by the Senators management, the display being too gigantic to stage at the ball park.

Tonight's crowd should break all records at Flaherty Field.

Senators Take Lead

New Castle went out in front in the first. Bilo walked and Dondero doubled him home. Eickenberg lifted to Pendleton and Dondero went to third. Famiglietti fanned. Ackerman singled to left. Horne singled to right but Mouton fanned. The Tigers tied it in the second. Komisaruk walked. Adcock bounced one off the plate but Omogrosso called it a fair ball and Komisaruk was out. Horne to Eickenberg. Miller tripled down the right field line to score Adcock. Stuckert singled to center to score Miller. Dorsey fanned. Foytack singled to right and Stuckert went to third. Pendleton forced Foytack.

The Senators took the lead again in the third. Dondero singled. Eickenberg dropped one on the carpet and Dorsey threw it away, with Dondero going to third. Eickenberg to second. Famiglietti was thrown out by Miller. Ackerman lifted to right and Dondero scored after the catch. Horne fanned.

Batters Robbed

Butler rallied in the fourth. Adcock walked. Miller dropped one on the grass, beat it out for a hit as Adcock wheeled to third. Stuckert lined to Dondero. Miller got back but was called out. Dorsey walked. Foytack was robbed on a great play by Dondero, who took his drive just off the ground. In the last of the fourth with one away Foytack walked Smolko, but caught him off first and Becka lifted to Pendleton. In the fifth Pendleton walked. Kemp moved him up. Falk grounded out. Ackerman to Becka. Komisaruk walked. Adcock forced Komisaruk. Eickenberg unassisted. In the last of the fifth Bilo bounced to Foytack. Dondero bunted and the ball bounced into him. Komisaruk made a gloved hand catch of Eickenberg's drive. Becka's luck held in the sixth. With one out Stuckert tripled. Dorsey walked. Foytack attempted the squeeze with Stuckert being nipped at the plate. Pendleton worked the count to 3-2, then lined to Smolko in deep right.

The Tigers roared into the lead in the seventh with a six-run rally. Kemp popped in front of the plate and it fell for a hit. Falk singled to center and Komisaruk rapped Kemp home with the tying run. Rossman came in for New Castle. Adcock grounded out. Miller singled to left to score Falk and Komisaruk. Stuckert walked intentionally. Dorsey singled off Rossman's leg. Foytack forced Dorsey as Miller scored. Pendleton singled to life to score Stuckert. Lesko came in for New Castle and he walked Kemp and Falk to force Foytack over. Komisaruk worked the count to 3-2, looked at the third strike.

In the last of the seventh Mouton walked. went to second and third on successive infield outs by Smolko and Wagner. Miller booted Bilo's grounder and Mouton went over. Dondero got a single back of first. Eickenberg lifted to Miller.

In the eighth with two out Stuckert doubled to right center but was out. Smolko to Dondero to Mouton. Famiglietti led off the eighth for the Senators with a triple to the left field pocket. Ackerman lifted to right. Horne doubled to center. Mouton fanned. Smolko grounded out. Komisaruk to Falk.

Dorsey lined to Smolko to open the ninth and Smolko dropped the ball. Foytack attempted to sacrifice but flied to Zedalis. Pendleton singled to center and when Bilo kicked it Dorsey went to third and Pendleton to second. Kemp doubled to left to score them. Falk and Komisaruk popped up to Eickenberg.

Bessemer Loses Opener, 20 To 7

Cementers Applauded For Inspired Play

Under dog Bessemer won the applause of the Rochester fans when they took a 7-6 lead in the third quarter, only to lose 20-7. Last night's game was witnessed by 8,000 at Rochester.

The Cementers poured Schaville and Pezzuolo through the Rochester guards and tackles for three drives that consumed more than half the field each time. Costly fumbles enabled an alert Ram eleven to eventually take the season opener.

The two teams traded punts in the first period and early in the second quarter Bobo, Rochester guard recovered a Bessemer fumble on the Cementer 40. Left half Jerry Miles then broke clear for 33 yards to the Bessemer seven. He then carried over the conversion and Rochester led 6-0, at the half.

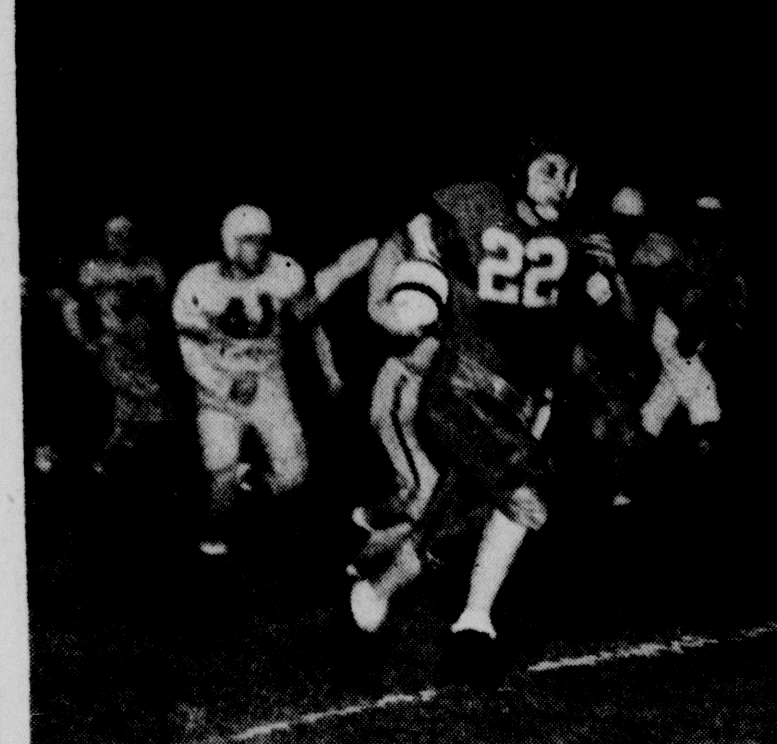

Pass For TD

The Bessemer eleven received the second half kick-off and at up 24 yards in five plays in driving to the Ram 34. Here Schaville and Pezzuolo pounded guard and tackle to continue the drive to the three. The Cementers then surprised a nine man Rochester line when Schaville threw a flat pass to Gagliano for the touchdown. Schaville converted to gain the lead 7 to 6.

Jerry Miles and Pickens bit off yardage in huge chunks and in only four plays hurried to the Bessemer nine. Here a flat pass in the form of retaliation was worked from Owens to Steel to place the ball on the one. Pickens scored from there standing up. Rochester led 13 to 6.

Bessemer was stymied again and Miles slipped away for two brilliant runs to carry him to the Cementers seven. From there he scored on an off tackle slant. Rochester 20, Bessemer 7.

Bessemer played the heavily favored Ram eleven almost to a standstill and won great prestige from the valley by their ability to get up off the floor.

LEADING THE PACK—Big fullback, Roussos, (22) leads the whole Carrick team as he races from the 50 yard line to score New Castle's lone touchdown.

Shenango Plays New Bethlehem

Wild Cat Eleven Up For Opening Game

New Bethlehem will play host to Shenango for the first time tonight when the two square off at the New Bethlehem field.

Coaches Eddie and John Susko have injected what they believe to be a winning spirit into Shenango forces in preparation for the battle at the Clarion county field.

Nahas is optimistic, even though injuries will keep two of his backfield stars from seeing action. Frank Fedore and Tom Magusiak have landed starting jobs at ends, and Walt Smith and Donald Fraul will line up at tackles. The running guard in the Nahas single wing will be Hubert Bunnay, and the left guard position will be held down by Marion Adamczyk. Johnny Allen and Fred Duckworth are the backfield threats, and the blocking will be handled by Harry Jermakowicz. The wing position will be filled by "Limp" Orlando, who has never before seen action other than intra-squad scrimmages.

New Bethlehem is known to be comprised of veterans that also line up from the single wing.

Wolverines Win From Erie, 20-7

Ellwood Outlasts Strong Vincent

Ellwood City high school brushed off Erie Strong Vincent last night at the Ellwood field, 20-7.

Ellwood moved ahead at the outset when Right Half Dick Graham intercepted Larry Raymond's pass on his own 45 and snaked his way 55 yards to score. The successful conversion by Right End Burns gave Ellwood the lead, 7-0.

A second quarter fumble by Ellwood Half Carl Tammara, on the Erie 32 set the stage for the only Erie touchdown. Frank Angelotti, Erie tackle, recovered the fumble, and the Colonels, directed by Alex Clemente, fullback, ate up five first downs and 68 yards to score. Clemente scored from the one yard line. Raymond's extra point tied the score at seven.

Trade Fumbles

Ellwood however only traded fumbles, as Center Sutkowski grabbed a Colonel miscue on the Ellwood 48. Carl Tammara and Jerry Cowan then alternated ball carrying chores, and carried the Wolverines to the Erie 15, where Tammara skirted left end for the score.

The third quarter produced no scores but did include the longest ground gaining play of the night. Erie Left Half Cerrona passed to his Right Half Barbaro, a play that ate up 75 yards and carried to the Ellwood two. Here the Wolverines held as the quarter ended.

Friello Scores

The relentless Colonels drove back after receiving the Ellwood kick, but again handed the ball to Ellwood through a fumble. Barbaro dropped the ball after catching Raymond's pass and Jay Nido, Ellwood sub, recovered on his 18. The Wolverine then came back strong and marched overland 69 yards to the Erie nine where Patsy Friello broke away to score. Burns final try was wide and the game ended with Ellwood lining up to kick off.

Erie was represented by nine seniors and showed a surprisingly strong aerial game. The Colonels led in first downs 11 to nine.

Canes Falter In Second Half; Roussos Tallies

Carrick high school came back strong in the second half Friday night at Taggart stadium to defeat New Castle high's Red Hurricane eleven 14-7 in the 1950 football opener before a crowd of about 10,000 persons.

New Castle got off to a 7-0 lead midway in the second quarter when John Roussos went through left tackle, cut to the right and raced 51 yards for a touchdown. A nice block by Guy Amodei took out the last two Carrick backs that had a chance to nab John.

Amodei's placement cleared the uprights and it was 7-0 in favor of New Castle.

Carrick kicked off to begin the second half and after Roussos brought the ball from the six to the 34 on the runback, the Hurricane attack stalled. Sansone punted out of bounds on the Carrick 37 on the fourth down.

On Carrick's first play Healy lateraled to Johnson, who raced around right end for 23 yards to the New Castle 41 before John Sansone knocked him out of bounds.

Amodei took the kickoff on the 14. A line buck by Roussos picked up a yard and a jump pass from Roussos to Bill Boak was good for 17 yards and a first down.

Johnson was thrown for a three-yard loss as visiting players poured through the Hurricane line. Roussos picked up five yards through center, but Carrick got the ball on downs on their own 35 when two straight Sansone-to-Boak passes failed.

After three line plays Carrick punted to the New Castle 35. Sansone brought the ball back to the 47. Two plays later Sansone hit Boak with a pass to the left. Boak did a beautiful piece of running to take the ball down to the Carrick 30.

That's the closest that the Red Hurricane ever came again, however, as the visitors broke through the New Castle line to smother several pass attempts. New Castle lost possession of the ball on the 48 when a Rankin pass, intended for Boak, failed. The game ended several plays later with Carrick on the New Castle 35.

Latsko, DeFalso Hurt

Ray Latsko was hurt near the end of the first period and did not return to action the remainder of the game. Danny DeFalso was injured near the end of the third period and was out the rest of the game.

In that second half Carrick's line outchugged the New Castle forward wall and the Hurricane backs never had a chance to get started. Don Tate played well defensively as did Bill Boak.

Healy handled the ball very well for Carrick out of the T-formation and did some nice passing. Johnson and Purcell were very impressive runners. Glock was a mountain of strength on the line.

Bucky Tate and Glock acted as captains for their respective teams.

The visitors picked up 21 more yards on the very next play when Purcell, substitute fullback, went through left tackle and fought his way to the New Castle 20.

Three plays later Healy hit Schmalzried on the four-yard line with a pass. Amodei tackled Schmalzried as he caught the ball. Purcell went through center for the score on the next play. Glock's placement was good to even the count at 7-7.

Carrick's second touchdown came early in the final quarter when Skillin blocked a New Castle punt on the New Castle 16-yard line. Johnson gained nine yards over right tackle and Purcell went through center from the seven for the score. Glock's placement was good to make the score 14-7 Carrick.

New Castle threatened twice in the first quarter but couldn't push it across. Boak kicked off to open the game and Ray Latsko hit Hogg on the Carrick 10-yard line. On the first play of the game Skillin fumbled and Paul Bober recovered for the Red and Black on the five-yard line.

Penalty Hurts

A five-yard penalty for backfield in motion put the ball back on the ten and after three ground plays and an attempted pass the visitors took over on the four.

Late in the first period New Castle worked the ball down to the Carrick 12, but again lost the ball on downs.

EFFICIENCY COMES FIRST, BUT BEAUTY HELPS TOO.

The first thing to look for in a trailer is efficiency. Is it built right, can it be loaded to capacity, will it carry the load properly?

Those are the first questions and the answer in Kingham Trailers is Yes. Properly engineered, skillfully built they answer every need of the freight hauler.

Beauty of design helps a little and Kingham trailers are built with an eye to proportion and design. You can't go wrong with Kingham trailer.

Sandy Saddler Stops Willie Pep

Sandy Becomes Feather Champ

By CHARLES EINHORN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Sandy Saddler is the featherweight boxing and wrestling champion of the world today—a sub-luxation over an agonized Willie Pep.

That's what three doctors solemnly termed the dislocated shoulder that ended Pep's frantic and wild attempt at defending his crown after seven rounds of violent hits and misses at Yankee Stadium last night.

A crowd of 38,781 and a gross gate of $262,150—both records for boxers of this weight—contributed to the strange and savage evening, which was the third vivid meeting between the two little men.

Re-Match Announced

And scarcely had Pep plunked moaning on his stool in a state of near-collapse, unable to come out for the eighth round, when International Boxing Club Matchmaker Al Weill announced they're re-matched again for next Feb. 16.

The fact is, Willie was winning the fight from his favored Harlem foe, although it wasn't a fight the way the Marquis of Queensbury set things up a hundred years ago. For every punch thrown—and there were hundreds, one of which caught Pep and floored him for a nine-count in the third round—there were also a hammerlock, a full Nelson, a chest press and a deep knee bend.

Oakland, Calif., Team
Legion Champions

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 9.—(INS)—Oakland, Cal., Friday held its second straight American Legion Junior Baseball title by virtue of an 11 to 0 victory over St. Louis in the tournament finals at Omaha.

Grand Jurors To Meet Monday

Will Consider Bills Of Indictment

Grand jurors who have been summoned for the September term will meet in the court house Monday morning to consider the bills of indictment handed up by District Attorney Sherman K. Levine.

The list this time is heavier than usual and the jury may be in session longer than any grand jury previously for several years.

ALDERMEN GO TO SCHOOL
Aldermen and justices of the peace of the county are students again. The minor judiciary of the county has established a twenty-four session of classes to instruct the aldermen and J.P.'s in the fundamentals of law.

The first session was held Wednesday night in the court house. Nineteen Lawrence county officials were present and two from Mercer county. Former District Attorney Leroy K. Donaldson is the instructor of the class. Sessions will be held each Wednesday night.

LAMOREE SENTENCES

Judge John G. Lamoree held sentence court Friday morning and sentenced four men. Robert D. Wilt and Andrew Rychlicki were each fined $100 and costs and thirty days in the county jail for drunken driving. They will be released in three days upon payment of the fine and costs. Jack Strayer was fined $1 and costs and paroled for one year upon the charge of indecent exposure.

Thomas Moch was fined $200 and costs or two months in the county jail for selling beer illegally.

IN HARRISBURG

Alderman Margaret Orres of the Sixth ward is in Harrisburg today attending a meeting of the legislative committee of the Minor Judiciary. She is one of the two first women ever appointed to the committee.

TWO VIEWS

County viewers met in the court house Friday morning to appraise values on properties which have been condemned by the county. A piece of property on South Lee avenue used as a ball ground and held by the county was adjudged to be worth $2800. The county will pay it and divided the money between the county, city and schools upon the basis of taxes owed.

At Park Gate the county has condemned eleven lots for a playground. Nauncey Nastos claims damages for one lot and Frank D. Hart for the other ten. The total damages asked are $2175.
